Fabra Elementary Principal, Troy Latiolais

Troy Latiolais, Principal of Fabra Elementary, has a visible passion for education and helping children succeed. He takes a daily, personal, fun loving approach to get to know each kid on his campus so that he can form genuine relationships and assist his team in increasing student achievement. He has a servant spirit and actively engages parents to build meaningful connections and is deeply rooted in the Fabra community. He has spent seven years in educational leadership encouraging positive relationships with all staff through constant communication and collaborative decision making. As a leader, he is focused on strong team development and continuous improvement to increase student success. Before moving into leadership, he enjoyed seven years in the classroom teaching middle school students Reading & Writing, which has prepared him to effectively coach and mentor his team.

Mr. Latiolais earned his Bachelor of Science in Interdisciplinary Studies from Texas A&M University and his Master of Education in Administration from Lamar University. He and his wife, Jennifer, have two beautiful daughters, Emma and Nora, whom both attend Fabra Elementary, with their third child to arrive in August. Mr. Latiolais loves to spend time with his family, coach his daughters' athletic teams and hunt with his dogs. He truly enjoys the outdoors with many animals in his home.
